IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Pretty Widow on Stand.

The suit in the Chancery Court of Richmond to break the will of James A. Wallen, stone contractor, because of the alleged undue influence of his young and pretty third wife, attracted much attention yesterday.

There was a deed of his property, amounting to $30,000 to his young wife, sometime before the will was made and the will, therefore, only represents about $10,000. The action is brought by the children of Mr. Wallen's first and second wives, and the $30,000 deed is the chief point of contention.

Mrs. Wallen made a most excellent witness. The inexorable lawyers probed deeply into the courtship and love affairs of herself and husband, but, with pretty flushes, she met every attack and lost no advantage by any foolish slip of the tongue and failed to do the expected by refusing to allow her temper to be ruffled.

It was brought out that Mrs. Alice H. Wallen was a divorcee when Mr. Wallen, aged and well-to-do, warmly besought and then married her. Her former husband was Henry C. Gitting, who at the time of the divorce was serving a term in the penitentiary.

The evidence was that when Mr. Wallen first came a wooing his advances were met with diffidence, but he was insistent and wrote many warm letters, in which the word love was spelled with a capital L.

The reading of these was trying to the pretty widow, but she held her ground bravely through it all. Mrs. Wallen was Miss Alice Hay, daughter of a merchant and farmer of Chesterfield.

Of the many warm love letters read in court from her aged lover the following, of date June 1888, is a fair sample:

"Dear Alice: It is useless to tell you that I love you, as my whole soul is wrapt in you. I would give my life for you. Of course, you can get a much younger companion than I am that loves you more ardently and devotedly than I do. Your least wish I should always grant to you, if it laid in my power, and there is nothing in this world that you wanted that I would not give you.

"Dear Alice, try and love me a little, and in the course of time, by my devotion and love to you, I hope that the time may come that you will love me as well as I do you. We are all under the providence of God. He rules all things. Our lives are in his hands, and when he calls us from this world we have to go—the young, the middle-aged and the old. As I am in the world by myself, I wish no other hand but yours to put me away in my resting place after this life. Try and share with me the pleasures and sorrows of this world and the prayers of my life will be for your welfare and your happiness. Dear Alice, pardon me for writing to you, but, believe me, if we are nothing but friends I shall always love you and always think of you, as I cannot help loving you. I remain your ever-devoted and affectionate friend."

The Assault on Mrs. Oliver.

When the case against Albert Traut, the negro who struck Mrs. Isabelle Oliver, a handsome young matron, formerly of Alabama, in the face on a Sixth avenue, New York, elevated train Tuesday evening, was called for a second hearing in the West Side Police Court yesterday morning, there was as lively a session as there was Wednesday, when Mrs. Oliver struggled to get at the prisoner. Mrs. Oliver was not hysterical yesterday, although she was very nervous—so much so that she could hardly talk—but the lively feature of the hearing was furnished by a coffee-colored negro wearing a raincoat.

Just before Traut was taken before the bar this man walked down the aisle dividing that section of the court occupied by persons having summonses and the curious from the space within the railing reserved for prisoners awaiting arraignment, put his hand on the gate and started to open it. The policeman guarding it told him to sit down. He insisted on entering, and Sergeant Hughes and Roundsman McNulty went up to quell the disturbance. They grabbed him and led him toward a seat, while the court benchers, a great many of them negroes who had gone to court to see what became of Traut, stirred with subdued excitement as the negro exclaimed:

"Don't you dare to handle me. Take your hands off me, and let me alone. I am a gentleman. I am a friend of Secretary Taft, of Senator Armstrong and of John B. Claflin!"

Justice Barlow, attracted by the noise, inquired of the negro if he was a lawyer, and he replied that he was a law graduate of Yale, but had not been admitted to the bar. He wore a Yale medal bearing the date 1901.

"If you are not a lawyer, get out," ordered the magistrate, and the negro was hustled out into the corridor, where he proceeded to tell those interested that he had had a dream, in which it was made to appear that God had appointed him to defend Traut.

After the excitement died away Traut's real counsel, Frank Wheaton, appeared in court and said the prisoner would waive examination.

Patrick H. Maley, a southern man, appeared on behalf of Mrs. Oliver. He asked that the defendant be held under heavy bail, adding:

"Mrs. Oliver has received a number of threatening letters from negroes and fears that she may be killed."

"I think $1,000 bail will be sufficient," announced the magistrate. "I will hold the defendant in that sum for action by the Court of Special Sessions on the charge of simple assault."

When the case had been disposed of Maley said he had taken up the case gratuitously. He added:

"I am willing to give the negro a fair show, but the negroes of New York have converted liberty into license. I shall do my best to put this man Traut where I think he belongs—behind the bars."

SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

FRIDAY EVENING. APRIL 13, 1906.

AFTER nearly seven years John F. Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene have been convicted in the United States Circuit Court at Savannah of participation in the frauds in the Savannah Ha-bor improvements for which Oberlin M. Carter was dismissed from the army and imprisoned for five years. Doubtless there will still be appeals and some time will elapse before the convicts will actually begin to pay the penalty of their crime. But at last they stand convicted by a jury, and there is every prospect that the verdict will stand. The frauds of Gaynor and Greene were in themselves of such a character that punishment was extremely important. But vastly more important was it for the government to face the issue made by these men and prove that neither money, nor time, nor distance could confer immunity on those who commit offences against the United States. These men were rich and influential. When indicted in 1899 they made a strenuous fight against going to Georgia for trial. They lost, were held in bail to appear at Savannah, forfeited $40,000 bail each, for which, it is said, they afterward reimbursed their bondsmen, and fled to Canada. There their money enabled them to secure influential friends and skilful counsel, and the Quebec courts, until overruled by the British Privy Council, protected them in their asylum. Had their cases been pending before a State tribunal the chances are that prosecution would have been abandoned and they would have continued to enjoy their ill gotten gains in Canada. The United States, however, was persistent, and after nearly four years of effort brought the fugitives back to this country and to the trial which has resulted in unquestionably deserved conviction. The facts brought out in the Carter case and the confession of flight remove all doubt about the guilt of the prisoners. It is a good thing to have them punished. It is a better thing to have the certainty of punishment for such offences thus made manifest. The frequent failure of the State courts to punish crime and the frequent weariness which attacks prosecuting officers are a fertile cause of lawlessness. State officials have too often a habit of beginning proceedings of public interest with great zeal, and dropping them when their sensational value has been exhausted. That is not the way, as a rule, with the Department of Justice, and it is one reason why the laws of the United States are frequently better obeyed than those of the States.

FOR threatening to assassinate the President of the United States on sight an anarchist, it is stated, was deported from New York within the last month, and sent back to Italy. The name of this anarchist cannot be learned, but he served a short term in prison at San Francisco for a misdemeanor, and while in prison threatened to take the life of President Roosevelt when he was released. Immediately before the expiration of his term of imprisonment the anarchist was examined as to his threats and intentions, and he made a statement under oath that, as soon as he gained his liberty, he would proceed to Washington and assassinate the President. Why such a wretch should ever have been set at liberty is almost incomprehensible. Hanging is too good for "king killers" in this country.

AMONG THE heroes of science are Professor Matucci and his assistants who have remained in the observatory on Mt. Vesuvius, which was supposed to have been destroyed. He telegraphed Wednesday that "the seismic instruments show quieter records than on Tuesday. I shall remain here as long as possible." Evidently the means of escape are not entirely closed to him, and he predicts that Vesuvius will soon return to its normal condition. As an observer of volcanoes at close range he is now in the class with Professor Heilprin.

NEW YORK is prompt to follow the example of Chicago, and will have a bank on May 1 that will be open night and day. The banking business for many years has been singularly select and conservative in its hours, and these radical departures from custom will be watched with interest by bankers in other cities.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, April 13.

It is understood that the administration senators will accept an amendment to the railroad rate bill which Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, or Senator Mallory, of Florida, will introduce. Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, one of the chief supporters of the administration, had a conference with the President this morning and it is said received instructions to this effect. The President had a consultation with Senators Simmons and Overman, of North Carolina, after his talk with Senator Nelson. The North Carolina statesmen called with a delegation from Charlotte to invite the President to make an address at the celebration of the anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. After the President had received the delegation and declined the invitation he requested the Senators to remain and talked rate matters with them. Neither Senator Simmons nor Senator Overman would talk about his chat with the President but it is understood that he repeated to them the substance of his talk with Senator Nelson. Senator Simmons' amendment to the rate bill is designed to put a limit of time in the matter of temporary injunctions. In all, thirty-five days are allowed from the date of notification to the time for submission of motions to the court. Senator Mallery's amendment follows closely the lines of Senator Simmons' amendment and either will be acceptable to the administration.

Senator Burrows, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, which is considering the case of Reed Smoot, will attempt to have a meeting of the committee tomorrow to take up the case for final consideration and report. This morning Attorney Worthington argued in behalf of Senator Smoot, in reply to the speech made yesterday by former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle. There was the usual crowd of interested spectators, most of them women. Mrs. Smoot, the wife of the Utah Senator, who has been conspicuously absent during the hearings, was present today for the first time. Attorney Carlisle, who announced yesterday that he would not be able to be present this morning, was specially requisitioned by telephone by Chairman Burrows and was in his accustomed place. He said he did not know why he had been recalled.

A statement was submitted to the House committee on merchant marine and fisheries today from President Alfred Winsor, of the Boston Steamship Company, operating trans-Pacific lines from Seattle, Washington, to Japan, China and the Philippines saying that useless government aid is extended to the merchant service his company will be compelled to go out of business.

Former Representative Loud, Attorney H. M. Wright and D. E. Skinner, of San Francisco, were heard in favor of the bill. Mr. Loud said that the Spreckles line, running from San Francisco to Australia, would be abandoned and placed under Japanese management, in the event the ship subsidy bill should fail.

Captain Duncan Kennedy, U. S. N., commanding the armored cruiser Colorado, which has been in Cuban waters for some time, died Thursday at Guantanama of appendicitis. The remains will arrive at Hampton Roads next Tuesday on a battleship. Capt. Kennedy was born in 1847 at Albany, New York, and was appointed a midshipman from that state in 1864. During the Spanish war he served as ordinance officer at the Norfolk navy yard. His first command was the cruiser Detroit in 1899, after which he served at the Naval War College at Newport.

William L. Merry, U. S Minister to San Jose, Costa Rica, has reported to this government that the Costa Rican government has announced its intention of completing during the coming year the interoceanic railroad from Limon on the Atlantic to Punta Arenas on the Pacific. Only twenty-five miles remain to be built. This is the road on which a number of Americans were engaged as civil engineers in the early seventies.

Commissioner-General Sargent of the immigration bureau is in New York today in consultation with Commissioner Watchorn of Ellis island in regard to immigration matters. The influx of anarchists to this country particularly will be discussed. Steps will be taken by the bureau to ascertain the names of the most dangerous anarchists that leave Europe for this country.

Senator Tillman today formulated and presented to the Senate postoffice committee charges against Benjamin F. Barnes, the assistant Secretary to the President, who has been nominated to be postmaster of this city. They are four in number and refer entirely to his connection with the ejection of Mrs. Morris from the White House.

The fine weather attracted another large crowd to Benning today to see the races. The season which has been a most successful one, will close tomorrow.

A determined effort will be made to have the District of Columbia Commissioners make an unfavorable report on the bill which aims to stop betting in the District and incidentally to close the Benning race track.

Walter Jones, 35 years old, of 640 Acker street, northeast, fell into a vat of boiling water in the rear of 304 Pennsylvania avenue this morning and was badly scalded. He was taken to the hospital. It is not known how seriously he was burned.

Effie Purcell, who lives at No. 5 B street, northwest, took a dose of carbolic acid this morning about two o'clock. She says she took it by mistake. She was removed to the Casualty Hospital, where it is thought she will recover.

M. Jesserand, the French Ambassador, will present to the National Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution next week a cast of the American side of the Gutenberg statue at Mayence, by David d'Angers. This bass relief, made from the original, will be presented in the name of Mme. Leferme, the daughter of the artist, and represents Benjamin Franklin as the central figure, holding in his hand the act of independence, and surrounded by George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, General Lafayette, John Hancock and other patriots of that day. The day for the presentation has not yet been fixed.

Americans in Plot.

Testifying in New York yesterday at the trial of his suit for $25,000 against Gen Juan J. Jiminez, ex-President of Santo Domingo, Joseph L. Cunningham, of Washington, D. C, declared that war supplies were shipped by the quartermaster of the United States army to Jiminez just before the unsuccessful Fanita expedition of 1897, which was an attempt to secure Santo Domingo for the insurgents, and, also, according to Cunningham, to secure Samana Bay as a coaling station for this country.

Cunningham claimed the $25,000 for services rendered in this country to Jiminez, when the latter and Gens. Morales and Garcia were planning to overthrow President Heuraux. Justice Fitzgerald, at the close of the hearing, dismissed the suit. It was shown that under Cunningham's agreement with Jiminez the money was to be paid when the revolutionary party came into power. As the revolution did not succeed, a motion to dismiss was granted.

The marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Ena will take place June 1.

SENATE.

Only seven Senators heard the opening prayer today.

A bill was passed permitting private yachts to carry naptha for their launches.

Mr. Hansbrough, of N. D., introduced an amendment to the railway rate bill, prohibiting any officer or employee of the government from soliciting or accepting, or using for himself or others, free railway transportation. Forfeiture of office or position is prescribed.

HOUSE.

The House proceedings today opened with a sensational incident.

Mr. Gardner, republican (Mass), arose to a question of privilege, and moved to strike from the Record extracts from the speech of Mr. Hopkins, democrat, in which the latter impugned the motives of Representatives Bennett, republican, and Goldfogle, democrat (New York) in their attitude on the immigration question The Hopkins-Bennett feud has been a feature of the House proceedings for some time, the former being a stern restrictionist, while Mr. Bennett desires open doors. In his speech of several days, ago, printed in today's Record, Mr. Hopkins declared that Mr. Bennett was a "servant of the steamship companies," and that he had "abused the confidence of the House," by having passed "through false representation, a resolution that allowed a seamship company to land an idiot in this country." Representative Goldfogle, he charged, attempted to have Mr. Bennett's proposition for the relief of one immigrant made general.

Mr. Gardner declared that the language of Mr. Hopkins "outraged" the rules of the House.

Mr. Goldfogle jumping to his feet, and despite Speaker Cannon's efforts to restore order, branded Mr. Hopkins' language "as the meanest and most unfair kind of a speech."

The House committee on ways and means today authorized a favorable report on bills extending the privilege of immediate transportation to Buffalo, Oswego, and Spokane.

The House committee on arts and expositions today completed work on the bill in aid of the Jamestown Exposition. It will carry $1,400,000. The original appropriation of $100,000 for quarters for sailors and soldiers was reduced to $75,000, and that of $80,000 for quarters for officers to $50,000.

Mineworkers Disappointed.

Reports received at Philadelphia from all sections of the anthracite coal field are to the effect that the mineworkers are greatly disappointed at what they regard as a virtual suspension of negotiations between the operators and miners' representatives in New York. In the various districts the headquarters of the mineworkers' local organizations were thronged the greater part of yesterday by expectant crowds seeking information concerning the result of the conference. The belief is generally expressed that President Baer's brief answer to the amended proposition offered by Mr. Mitchell and the scale committee leaves but small hope for an amicable settlement of the questions at issue.

Greene and Gaynor Convicted

John F. Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene, the contractors indicted on three counts charging conspiracy to defraud the government and embezzlement in connection with big government engineering works in the Savannah district, were yesterday in that city found guilty on all three counts.

Judge Speer ordered a recess until today, when sentence will be imposed on the convicted men.

The defendants were found guilty, with no recommendation, upon each of the indictments. The verdict was returned a few minutes before 2 o'clock, after the jury had been out three and a half hours.

The trial consumed more than 13 weeks, and more than six years elapsed between the indictment of the two contractors and their conviction.

The profits alleged to have been illegally made by the convicted men aggregating about $575,000, and it is estimated that they spent more than $1,000,000 in fighting extradition and defending themselves in court.

The case has been fought in the courts of three countries—the United States, England and Canada.

Kidnapping was resorted to in Canada to bring them before the court at Montreal for extradition, and they several times secured their liberty, only to have to stand trial at last.

Savannah, Ga., April 13.—Greene and Gaynor were this morning sentenced to four years in the United States penitentiary at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $575,000, the total amount of the embezzlement. The prisoners may be relieved of the fine by making oath that they are possessed of no more than $20.

Judge Speer this afternoon signed an order allowing counsel for the defense ten days in which to prepare bills of exception, and the sentence was stayed pending the filing of same. Counsel asked for thirty days, but that was denied.

By taking the pauper's oath the defendants are relieved of $575,749 90 fine. This, however, does not prevent the government from proceeding in a civil court to recover the embezzled money.

Ravages of Tornado.

The town of Briggs, about eighteen miles north of Bertram, Texas, was swept by a tornado about 5 o'clock yesterday evening and almost completely destroyed. Two persons are reported killed and thirty injured. All the telephone wires out of Briggs are down for a distance of three miles. The school building was completely demolished, and every business house in town was either badly damaged or destroyed. The tornado was preceeded and followed by a heavy rain and hail storm, and crops were considerably damaged. The path of the storm was from the southwest to the northeast. The town contains about 250 inhabitants.

A tornado struck Stafford, Kans., yesterday evening, slightly injuring several persons, and demolishing several houses, including the Quaker Church. Mrs. Edward Gleisburg saw the storm coming and ran into the yard to rescue her child. Before she reached him she was hurled against a telegraph pole across the street. The child was not hurt. The storm jumped a little farther to the north east, demolishing several small houses and damaging others.

Four miles west of Stafford another tornado blew down several farm buildings. The sun shone brightly while the storms were blowing.

Another tornado is reported at Bushton, thirty miles north of Stafford. Several buildings were blown down. No one was seriously injured.

Vesuvius's Deadly Work.

Naples, April 13.—Another interval of clear skies, due to the cessation of the falling of the ashes and cinders from the volcano, came during this morning to cheer the people and give renewed hope that it will not be many days now until the eruption is really over.

With the beginning of the new day there was not much in the prospect to offer encouragement until the shower of ashes ceased.

At daybreak the situation was regarded as grave, and the ashes were still falling. To add to the misery of the situation, there was a recurrence of the earth tremblings and this gave rise to new fears that the volcano, which apparently is quieting down, might be preparing for a fresh burst of activity, or that earthquakes might follow the eruption.

The arrival of British warships here has increased the hopes of the people that it will be easier now to carry relief to the stricken town along the coast. It is expected that American warships will also be sent here to assist in the relief and rescue work.

Reports received late yesterday afternoon indicated that the flow of lava had ceased everywhere and that the streams which rolled down the sides of the mountain were cooling.

As the stricken towns are partially cleared additional corpses are found, showing that the death roll, if it is ever completed, will be greater than was at first supposed. Evidences of more complete ruin wrought by the eruption than was believed to have occurred have also been disclosed.

The correspondent of the Publishers Press has just returned from a tour of some of the Vesuvian villages. The scenes witnessed were heartrending. Ruin and devastation are spread everywhere and scattered here and there in some of the villages are bodies of men, women and children lying where the victims fell.

In most of the villages there are still a few people living. Their condition is desperate, as they are practically without food or water, and they are living in the midst of the inferno caused by the eruption.

An examination of the corpses of those who fell victims to the eruption shows in many cases that suffocation, or laryngitis, caused death.

At Ottejano, where a church collapsed several days ago, one hundred and thirty-two bodies were recovered from the ruins of the church.

The death list is still being added to daily, as persons in the Vesuvian villages are dying of laryngitis and suffocation from the poisonous gases from the volcano.

Animals in the eruption districts are dying by thousands, as they are unable to find food, and, deserted by their owners, they are helpless. The birds have practically deserted the country and thousands of them have perished. The few that remain in the neighborhood of the volcano appear terror stricken.

Pope Pius X telegraphed to Cardinal Prisco to prohibit the holding of Holy Week services in the great churches of the city, in order to avoid the danger of the collapse of the buildings and prevent other disasters similar to that of the Mont Oliveto market house.

The statement made today by the chief of police of Naples puts a new light on the supposed religious processions through the streets in which images of the saints were carried and supplications for assistance offered. This official states that the processions are made up largely of prostitutes and members of the Camorra Society who used this pretext for black mailing pedestrians. Various ringleaders of the schemes have been arrested.

An Apparent Deadlock.

New York, April 13.—While the outlook for peace in the anthracite coal fields seems hopeless, because of the flat rejection of the miners' modified demands, John Mitchell has hopes today that the formal reply of the operators will leave some way open by which there may be a continuance of the joint negotiations looking to an adjustment of difficulties. The formal reply will be made to Mr. Mitchell in a letter next week. W. H. H. Truesdale, president of the Lackawanna, says that the formal reply will contain nothing more than the informal reply made by Mr. Baer at the conclusion of yesterday's joint meeting. The operators all unite this morning in saying that they have gone as far as they will go in the matter of concessions. There is little possibility of a resumption of work in the anthracite field for some time to come no matter what develops. Mr. Mitchell leaves for Indianapolis either today or tomorrow to attend the meeting of the National Executive Board of the Miners' Union, which meets on Tuesday. This meeting will be in session the best part of the week, so that should Mr. Mitchell desire to continue negotiations with the anthracite operators he could not do so until in the week commencing April 23. Should a complete break then occur, a call for a tri-district convention of hard coal miners would be issued for a meeting in the first week in May.

New York, April 13.—This morning a man strolled into the Ashland House, the headquarters of John Mitchell, and the other members of the miners scale committee, and asked to be shown to the quarters occupied by Mr. Mitchell. Asked his name, the man declined to give it, or to state where he came from. A newspaper man who had been in the back of the lobby, of the hotel then approached the stranger and said: "This is Mr. Sturges, of Scranton, Pa., is it not?"

The man was surprised, and after hesitating a moment, replied that that was his correct name. The visitor was E. B. Sturges, president of the Clarence Coal Company, of Scranton, Pa. He is an independent miner and was one of the signers of the letter from the independent operators to the anthracite operators, declaring that arbitration of the differences between the operators and miners really amounted to a submission to anarchy and mob violence.

Mr. Sturges said that he was very much chagrined over his presence here, and the fact that he desired to confer with Mr. Mitchell becoming known. He said that he came here on the quiet, and that he did not desire that any of the operators should know of his visit.

Finally he was ushered into the Mitchell quarters and had a talk extending about fifteen minutes.

The unrest and agitation noticeable in the Baltic provinces is increasing. General Orloff, who has commanded the troops used in suppressing disorders in that region, will remain as commanding general in the district until order has been completely restored.

Glasgow, April 13.—A dispatch to the Herald from St Petersburg states that the complete bankruptcy of Russia is approaching. It says that the negotiations for a new loan are at a deadlock and that in the imperial treasury only a few million roubles are left. The democrats, the correspondent says, will make a special appeal to Great Britain and France to unite and subscribe to the loan.

Lodz, Russian Poland, April 13.—Fully 20,000 workmen are now on strike. Many factories are closed for an indefinite period owing to the continual strike disturbances although orders are abundant.

Warsaw, April 13.—Fearing an armed outbreak the governor general has issued orders prohibiting the volunteer fire brigades from drilling or exercising in the provincial towns of Russian Poland.

Strike Extending.

Paris, April 13.—The strike of the postmen which was inaugurated here on Wednesday is extending. The postmen in many of the provincial towns have joined the movement. Telegraph messengers are also on strike. Four hundred postmen were dismissed from the service today as the result of the postal strike. M. Barthou, Minister of Public Works, in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday gave notice that unless the strikers returned to work today, they would be dismissed, and the 400 men discharged today have learned that he intended to keep his word.

Vienna, April 13.—Six hundred drivers of post carts struck today to enforce a demand for higher wages. The authorities have engaged a number of hackney coaches for postal service and postmen and other employes of the department have been pressed into service as drivers. The wagons and coaches are all accompanied by police guards. It is feared that serious disturbances may occur.

Shot by a Woman.

Philadelphia, April 13 —Angered by an unpleasant remark alleged to have been made her to by Michael Keaglo, 34 years old, Josephine Desampo, 22 years old, a comely Italian, turned on him and fired two bullets in his back. The shooting took place this morning at the cocoanut shredding plant of Franklin Baker, Fairmount Avenue wharf, Delaware river, where both are employed. The room was filled at the time with employee, who became excited. Frightened and wrought up to a high pitch when she had seen the man fall, the young woman ran out of the door, boarded a southbound Second street car and made her escape. The police, however, expect to apprehend her within a few hours. Keaglo was removed to the Hahnemann Hospital in a serious condition.

Butted by Ram into the Sea.

Portland, Me., April 13.—While playing near his home at Orr's Island, Casco Bay, yesterday afternoon, Milton Webber, a four-year-old child, was attacked by a vicious ram, and after twice being knocked down and trampled on, was butted over an 18-foot cliff on to a jagged reef covered with water. He was being gradually carried out into deeper water, when he was rescued in a most thrilling manner by Albert Storer, a clam-digger, who plunged into the surf. When the boy fell to the reef he was unconscious and was an easy prey to the ebb of the waves which broke over him and which were dragging him out as though he were a log of wood. Storer was exhausted when he got the child to safety. The boy is critically ill, but will probably recover.

Postoffice Robbed.

Chaplin, Conn., April 13.—The grocery store of C. M. Litchfield, which is also used as the postoffice, was entered by burglars last night. They secured $400 in money and stamps, the property of the government, $200 belonging to the town of Chaplin, and $300 belonging to Litchfield, together with some bank books and endorsed checks probably a total of $1,000. Mr. Litchfield is town clerk and postmaster, as well as a store keeper. The burglars helped themselves to cigars, oranges and a little lunch of crackers and cheese in the store.

Snake Opened Whistle Valve.

Martinsburg, Ind., April 13.—A rattlesnake which had crawled on a boiler in the saw mill here to keep warm wound itself around the rope of the whistle while trying to escape the heat when steam was raised. The weight of the snake was sufficient to cause the whistle to blow continuously. The people of the village, thinking the mill was on fire, hurried there with buckets and found Irvin Durnhill, the engineer, shaking with fear. He had seen the snake and was afraid to enter the engine room. Sam Sterling got a shotgun and killed the reptile.

Athletes Injured.

Gibraltar, Spain, April 13.—An accident to the steamship Barbarossa, which is taking the American team of athletes to the Olympic games at Athens, may deprive the team of the services of six of its men. This news was brought by the Barbarossa when she touched here today. The athletes were injured by a wave which boarded the steamer.

Mrs. Oliver has appealed for protection to Police Commissioner Bingham and two policemen have been assigned to guard the house. Mrs. Oliver has received more than 100 anonymous letters.

Hotel Destroyed.

Thomasville, Ga., April 13.—The famous resort and hotel at Piney Woods was destroyed by fire last night. It is believed that the flames were started by incendiaries. Sparks from the burning buildings were carried by the wind to the southern portion of the town where three blocks of small stores were set on fire and consumed. The loss on the hotel is $65,000, and the other losses will amount to $35,000. There was an insurance on the hotel of $12,000.

Local Matters.

Sun and Tide Table.

Sun rises tomorrow at 5:25 a. m. and sets at 6:37 p. m. High water at 11:38 a. m.

Weather Probabilities.

For this section fair tonight. Saturday partly cloudy, probably rain by night; fresh east to south winds.

Good Friday.

Today is Good Friday, the most solemn day of the church calendar. Services commemorating the crucifixion of Christ 19 centuries ago are held, and throughout the Christian world many men and women, for at least some period during the day, put aside worldly thoughts and give themselves up to appropriate meditation

Formerly the special services for Good Friday were confined largely to the liturgical churches, but each year the custom has become more general, until now nearly all sects and denominations of Christians observe the day in some fitting way.

In the Catholic churches, the special services of the day known as the mass of the presanctified is a particularly solemn ceremony The celebrant and his assistants are dressed in black vestments, and the sanctuary is without lights or incense. At the opening of the service the communicants prostrate themselves upon the ground in prayer and all classes are included in the petition.

In the afternoon and evening the office of the Tenebrae is chanted for the last time. A service that is observed in same of the Episcopal churches in recent years is the three hours' devotion between noon and 3 p. m., in remembrance of Christ's agony on the cross

In this city the services were held according to yesterday's announcement and were quite well attended.

Wants Manufactories.

Washington now wants manufactories and the Board of Trade of that city has issued a booklet setting forth the natural advantages of the capital city as a manufacturing centre. This is the first time in the history of the national capital that such a movement has been made. The Board of Trade banks upon the natural advantages of Washington, which none will attempt to controvert, but the same claim can be made by Alexandria. Within a few weeks' time two modern and swift ferry steamers will be making half-hour trips between the two cities, which with the double-track electric railway will cause a more complete commingling of the business of the two cities. Manufacturers who may peruse the Washington booklet should cast their eyes a short distance south of the capital city if they are contemplating a removal of their plants. As was stated in yesterday's Gazette, a Washington manufactory will remove to Alexandria on May 1st. There is reason to believe that others will follow, especially some of the small ones, as the facilities in this city are equally as desirable as those in Washington, while rents are lower. It is believed by many that could electricity for power be obtained here numbers of new plants would spring up in Alexandria in the near future.

A Warning.

According to a Frederick, Md., physician who has already been called upon to attend two children who have been seriously ill by eating small candy Easter eggs, the sale of these eggs is a serious menace. The eggs which he denounces are of the small, varicolored variety used for filling Easter baskets, and the physician says that it is evident that poisonous matter is used in making them. In one of the cases which he treated a child suffered for two hours with violent spasms after eating a cent's worth of the eggs and had a narrow escape from death. The above should prove a sufficient warning to parents in every city. The Easter season is here, and all sorts of articles which appeal to innocent children are exposed in the windows of certain stores. There are doubtless many concotions in Alexandria which are not deleterious to health but dangerous. The storekeepers themselves may be ignorant of this fact.

M. E. Church South.

Fishtown.

Fishtown was comparatively active again this morning. One vessel load of fish had arrived from the lower river, and cutting was in progress. Conditions, however, were far beyond those generally in evidence in the middle of April. The bulk of the shad and herring are still far down the river, where they will remain until the water becomes clear, when they will forge their way into fresh water. Receipts today were still inadequate to meet the demand, and prices were firm with an advancing tendency. It is thought, however, that should the present mild weather continue fish will be plentiful next week at much lower prices

The New Washington Depot.

The first passenger train pulled into the new union station in Washington at 4:45 yesterday afternoon. It was occupied by President Cassatt and the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, directors of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, and Assistant Engineer F. W. Stranse. It consisted of a day coach, a Pullman and engine No. 1135. The members of the party were received by James Crawford, general manager of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington; Col. Cassel, Mr. Neale and E. Wilmann, the latter representing the architects of the station: D. H. Burnham & Co., of Chicago. After a thorough inspection of the building, now in course of construction, the visitors departed in carriages from the southeast corner of the station, known as the State entrance. The train had stopped at the west side, near the passenger concourse.

From these he raised and sold 72 young chickens at 34 cents each and 44 hens for $31 60. He had all the eggs he could use in his family and sold many more. One of the latter had his hand cut.

The OLD Story

Yes, That Same Old Story.

"If I had only begun to SAVE when young!" It's never too late to start. Begin to prepare for the rainy day now and SAVE a little of your income. We do not advise SAVING merely for the money's sake, merely for gratification or enrichment. To have money and have nothing else is to be POOR INDEED. But every man with a child or any human being dependent upon him owes it to his sense of decency to SAVE his money, for only money SAVED and accumulated can mean permanent safety for the weak. Money means independence and the man whose dollar you must work for from day to day is the man that's INDEPENDENT. We want you to accumulate and SAVE that which will make you independent of other men. Make up your mind to do this by opening an account in our SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, where it will earn 3 PER CENT. interest, compounded. Call and talk this matter over with us—CALL TODAY.

An Inferno.

Robert Underwood Johnson, associate editor of the Century Magazine, who has been an eyewitness of the events in Naples the last few days said Wednesday: "Each day it becomes more impossible to visit even at a distance the afflicted districts. The ashes filter into everything, block the trains, teams, automobiles, carriages, and horses. Only the soldiers seem to overcome the obstruction. Before the interruption I took a tram for Torre Annunziata. On arriving at Torre del Greco the heavens seemed to open and we were soon half buried in ashes and hot cinders. The train drew up in total darkness, relieved only by lightning flashes. Thus we waited events. Soon the darkness took purple and yellow tinges, the detonations became louder than the loudest thunder clap, and the ashes burned our eyes. It was a perfect picture of Dante's Inferno. The train could not proceed, so thick were the ashes on the track, and just at this point the train broke in half, and the poor women fugitives, thinking they were about to lose their lives, began to chant litanies for the dead, giving a last weird touch to the infernal scene. Carbineers came to our rescue, and proposed to take us to the sea. We then found we were on a bridge with the sea on one side and Torre del Greco on the other hand. In the darkness we descended hand in hand, forming a human rope, and a false step would have meant death. The port was so choked with ashes that small boats could not navigate. Wearily we trudged back to the station to find there was no prospect of another train. We had then been five hours in that plight, so, seeing that heroic measures were necessary, with a companion I trudged miles in two or three feet of ashes to Portici, where finally we found a cab which brought us to Naples."

Did Not Refer to Carnegie.

There has been some comment on the fact that Mayor Dempsey, of Cincinnati, does not mention the name of Andrew Carnegie in his speech accepting the new Walnut Hills branch library last week, for the building of which Carnegie contributed liberally.

"I purposely refrained from any reference to Carnegie, because I desired to be perfectly honest in the matter," said Mayor Dempsey yesterday. I have no deep admiration for a man who has made his millions out of the sweat and blood of the toiling classes, but who attempts to atone for the oppression by giving away buildings and thus advertising himself as a philanthropist. The place his beneficence should have begun was in his work-shop and the workingmen should have had the first benefit. In fact, I am inclined to regret that the great city of Cincinnati did not build and pay for the branch libraries instead of receiving them as charity from a man who could have no real sympathy with a city of which he knew nothing, and in which he had no interests. The fact that I did not praise Carnegie was quite deliberate. He is a creation of the system of special privileges that has enriched the few at the expense of the many, which is undemocratic and destructive. I am not at all in accord with his manner of making money, and scarcely more so with his method of spending it."

Plan to be Abandoned.

The final session of the conference of the western section of the executive committee of the Reformed Churches throughout the world, embracing the Presbyterian systems, was held in Philadelphia yesterday. The conference was addressed by Gen. Ralph A. Prime, of New York, who took for his subject "Evangelization Among the Jews." General Prime said that efforts to Christianize the Jew have proved ineffectual. The churches, he said, are abandoning the cause by mutual consent. "No matter how much we try to enlighten them," he said, "they will retain their ancient form of worship. On the east side of New York city," he continued, "there is not a Christian Church, but there are 360 synagogues. "Throughout the city," the speaker said, "there are 1,000,000 Jews, and they are exerting an influence over America that is spreading more and more." In conclusion he said that "the Jews are in every city a community of themselves," and he asked what was to be done to bring about their conversion. A committee was appointed to report on the naturalization of the Hebrews in America and to ascertain how many of them are Christians.

Secret of Edison's Battery.

The news that representatives of Thos. A. Edison had recently purchased a mine of cobalt ore on the Montreal river, near Haileyburg, Canada, and was offering $70 a ton on a 10 per cent. quality of this ore delivered in New York, has tended to conform the report that cobalt is the key to Edison's new electric storage battery. Cobalt is somewhat similar to nickel, and has been used for producing blue tints is certain procelains. It is still not known in what way Edison has employed this metal.
